BUSINESS MEN ASK DIVERSION OF BIG TRUCKS

Bureau Requests City Officials to Study Traffic Problem

MAYOR EXPLAINS PARKING METHODS

Routing of Heavy Trucks on Side Streets Is Sought

Members of the Salem Business Bureau have requested city officials to make a further study of traffic regulations with a view to diverting heavy truck traffic away from the downtown section of State st.

The business men also urged the officials to enforce parking regulations in the business sections to provide more parking space for shoppers. They called upon their own members and all merchants and professional men to abide by these regulations by parking their cars in other places than the business streets.

Mayor Explains Parking

These expressions came after the bureau members had heard a talk by Mayor George Harroff at their monthly noonday luncheon meeting Monday at the Lape dining room.

The mayor explained the administration's efforts to improve traffic conditions by placing half-hour parking restrictions in the middle of each downtown block and one and a half hours regulations elsewhere. This was done, the mayor explained, to provide spaces for shoppers to get in and out without delays.

In urging a further study to relieve traffic congestion on State st., the business men suggested the possibility of routing through trucks around the business district.

Harroff told about his efforts to keep carnivals, street fairs and peddlers out of the city. He said he had refused several carnival promoters permission to show in the city because such exhibitions do no good, but on the other hand take the greater portion of receipts out of the city.

Support Mayor's Stand

His stand on this subject was supported in a resolution adopted by the bureau.

Bureau members also urged that State st. be cleaned two or three times a week, especially on Saturday nights.

Columbiana Plant Lands Navy Order

COLUMBIANA, June 16.—The H. J. Harrold Tool Co., is running double shifts in an attempt to keep up with rush orders, according to Manager H. J. Harrold, who recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he signed a contract with the U. S. Navy department, for a car load of ship scrapers and 500 screw drivers.

A growing five and ten cent store tool trade which adds to the factory business will assure a two-shift basis for at least a year, Harrold said. The firm recently added an adjustable eight-inch wrench and a perfect handle screw driver to its line of low-priced tools. The plant also is preparing to manufacture a new patented bit brace. The company employs more workers and has a larger payroll now than ever before in its history.

COUNTY SEEKS RELIEF FUNDS

Commissioners Ask State for Aid for Last Three Months

LISBON, June 16.—Declaring that Columbiana county will have to its credit $208,540.06, available by way of future excise tax revenue, county commissioners, in special session, have adopted a resolution asking the state relief commission to immediately allow this county $30,213.53 for the payment of relief invoices contracted during January, February and March.

Specify Amounts

Commissioners have pointed out to the relief commission that the county should have a loan from the rotary fund of the state established and created under provision of House Bill 627 and amended Senate Bill 436, sums for the respective months as follows: January, $14,401.16; February, $13,201.06; March, $2,611.31.

The resolution points out that this loan is amply secured to the state by reason of the fact the state collects the excise tax, and is therefore entitled to charge the county on future excise tax collections for such advances.

A section of the resolution forwarded by special delivery to the state relief commission reads:

"There is still a widespread need for funds for relief purposes throughout Columbiana county. The condition from and after June 1 will be very acute with respect to relief matters. The requested loan from the rotary fund established by Section 6-B of House Bill 627 will be secured, or rather the State of Ohio will be amply secured for the repayment of the loan, due to the fact the County of Columbiana under provisions of House Bill 501 has available by way of future excise tax revenue, $208,540.06.

Resolutions Repealed

Two resolutions recently adopted by the board of commissioners requesting state relief aid have been repealed by the adoption of the third resolution. The first resolution sought $37,901.37, and the second resolution asked an advance of $5,769.40 for the months of April and May.

Previously the county relief commission was informed by the state relief commission that Columbiana county was to receive a maximum sum under several grants totaling $96,123.14, which was to be spread over a period of six months, with a sliding percentage for each of the monthly periods. Because of this information, the county relief commission made expenditures accordingly.

As grants came through for January, February and March, none having been received for April and May, it was discovered that the grants were being made on a seven month basis. As a result, the county relief commission was expending more than was ultimately received from the state relief commission.

Calls Davey's Plan "Political Trick"

COLUMBUS, June 16.—Quick repeal of a three per cent sales levy on food purchased for the home, proposed by Gov. Martin L. Davey, faced today a hostile Republican front.

Frank Whittemore of Akron, senate minority leader, termed the proposal to end the tax Sept. 1 as "purely political," and Rep. J. Harry Ashmann (R) Cincinnati described it as "a slick political trick."

ICKES CANCELS HUGE CONTRACT WITH J. & L. CO.

$40,086 Imperial Dam Job Taken From Pittsburgh Concern

THREE COMPANIES' BIDS IDENTICAL

J. & L. Charged With Campaign Against Efforts of Organization

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 16.—Secretary Ickes today cancelled a $40,086 contract with the Jones and Laughlin Steel company of Pittsburgh because, he said, it had been "found guilty by the national labor relations board of unfair labor practices."

Jones and Laughlin, with three other companies, has submitted identical bids for sheet steel piling in constructing the Imperial dam on the All American canal in New Mexico.

"Terror" Campaign Charged
Ickes said the award was cancelled because the labor relations board had notified him of its decision that the company had conducted a campaign of "systematic terror" against organization efforts of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America.

The labor board's suit to enforce an order against the company was denied yesterday by the federal court of appeals at New Orleans.

Interior department officials asserted, however, that Ickes' decision to cancel the contract was reached before the court decision and that he was simply utilizing his discretion in deciding among identical bidders.

His identical bidding
After eliminating the Bethlehem Steel company on the grounds of "discrepancy," Ickes had decided to award the contract to Jones and Laughlin because its plant was farthest from the Imperial dam. He had hoped this would discourage identical bidding.

The other two bidders were the Inland Steel company of Chicago with a plant at Indiana Harbor, Ind., and the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company of Denver, with a plant at South Chicago, Ill.

Ickes, who had announced award of the contract to Jones and Laughlin on May 15, said bids of the two latter companies were being restudied to determine the new award.

The labor board gathered today to study the ruling.

Shoe Dealers Name Bunn As Treasurer At State Meeting

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, June 16.—The Ohio Shoe Retailers' association came to the close of its annual convention today, a newly elected slate of officers taking over its work for the ensuing year.

Edward Horn of Cincinnati, announced president, Fred Abbott of Newark, vice president; C. E. Dittmer of Columbus, secretary, and George Bunn of Salem, treasurer.

The convention voted to return here in 1937.

John Schwartz, owner of a shoe store in Cincinnati for 52 years, and asserted the oldest footwear retailer in the state, was made honorary life chairman.

Supreme Dictator Of Moose To Attend Initiation Here

Walter S. Ruff of Canton to Be Honor Guest When Fifty Candidates Are Received by Order

A class of 50 candidates will be initiated Wednesday night by Salem lodge No. 571, Loyal Order of Moose, in honor of John Belch of Amsterdam, the only member from this district of the 1936 Moosehead graduating class of 101 boys and girls.

Walter S. Ruff of Canton, supreme dictator, will be the honor guest and the principal speaker of the evening.

This promises to be one of the most outstanding meetings of Salem lodge, according to Dictator William J. Schmidt, as this is the first time a supreme dictator has visited it.

Ruff, born on a farm in West township, Columbiana county, taught school in the country districts and villages after completing his college course at Wooster and in 1900 went to Canton as principal of a grade school. Later he taught in the Canton high school and in 1910 began the practice of law.

In 1912 Ruff was elected city solicitor, serving five years, and then served four years as prosecuting attorney of Stark county. For several years he was a state representative and since 1932 he has been serving as state senator.

Ruff was elected supreme dictator

POTTERY HEADS PLAN MEETING

One Hundred Five Delegates Will Represent Unions at Atlantic City Conclave June 29

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 16.—One hundred and five delegates will represent 75 subordinate unions, with a membership of 14,000, at the annual convention of the National Brotherhood of Operative Pottery, which will open at Atlantic City, June 29, it was announced today by President James M. Duffy.

Two hundred resolutions pertaining to "rights of labor" and "progress" will be considered at the conclave, which is expected to be in session two weeks.

Proposals to be embodied in a new general wage agreement with the United States Pottery association will be submitted by branches of the industry, which is centered in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and New Jersey.

The executive board will hold a pre-convention meeting at the seashore on June 26.

A two-year contract with the employers' organization will expire Sept. 30, and a new pact will be negotiated at a conference, expected to be held in August.

SINGLE PLEA OF GUILTY IS MADE

Not Guilty Is Popular Reply at Arraignment Today

LISBON, June 16.—Harry Hall and Kenneth Powell of East Liverpool, jointly indicted by the April grand jury for auto theft and operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge W. F. Lones here this morning and were held under $2,000 bond each.

Only one plea of guilty was made during arraignment today, this coming from Henry Gray of Toronto, who was indicated on an auto theft charge. He was not sentenced.

Albert Wright of East Palestine, indicted on three auto theft counts and one grand larceny charge, pleaded not guilty to all four charges and was held under $5,500 bond.

Other prisoners arraigned this morning were Jesse Baker of East Liverpool, charged with rape, held under $3,000 bond; Jean Farrell of Lisbon, also charged with rape, held under $3,000 bond; Charles Crawford and Terrence Brady, jointly indicted with Wright on a grand larceny charge, held under $2,500 bond each.

Crawford was also arraigned on a joint indictment with Wright for auto theft to which he pleaded not guilty and was held under $2,500 bond.

A number of the cases have been assigned for trial before Judge Lones next week.

Damages Of $20,000 Are Asked In Suit

LISBON, June 16.—A $20,000 damage suit was filed against the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., here today, by Atty. George T. Farrell in behalf of the parents of Seward R. Hutcheson of Lisbon, who was fatally injured when the truck in which he was a passenger crashed into a train near Sebring, May 3.

The suit charges that the crossing where the truck jammed into a line of freight cars is not equipped with blinker lights or warning signs.

Paul Bailey of Lisbon, driver of the truck in which Hutcheson was riding, was killed instantly when the accident occurred.

Guilford Grangers Guests At Supper

Guilford grange gave a convivial supper Saturday night in honor of the married ladies who won a recent contest. Flowers were presented to the guests by Alfred Gamble who acted as toastmaster.

Bonus Arrives In Time to Save Errant Butler

Bonus Brevities Add Sparkle to News of Day

NEW YORK—Thomas Hughes, 43, a butler, might have been even more embarrassed if he hadn't had his $1,480 bonus with him. Arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated, he saved himself a stay in jail by whipping the envelope out and posting his own $500 bail.

The Automobile Merchants Association of New York, Inc., estimated 12,500 automobiles, half new and half used, would be sold within the next few weeks to bonus-cashing veterans.

PITTSBURGH—James Prescott awoke from a deep sleep to learn he had both lost and recovered his eleven $50 bonds. Two men found the envelope on the floor of a cafe. They were examining the find in a nearby alley when two detectives intervened. The bonds were taken to Prescott's home. Mrs. Prescott said her husband had retired without knowing he had lost them.

COLUMBUS—A 38-year-old Negro bellhop, Hayden Skeaton, was excused from county jail to go home and wait for the postman's ring. He had been arrested on a non-support charge.

CHATTANOOGA—Clay Gothard, who is a postman as well as a veteran, walked up to his own door with a letter, asked Mrs. Gothard to identify him to himself and then handed his bonus bonds to himself. Rules are rules.

KANSAS CITY—While waiting for his bonus to arrive Frank N. Riggs sat down with a pencil and figured that the postoffice department would be enriched by nearly six million dollars as a result of the payments.

He said postage on advertising he had received through the mail offering suggestions on where to spend his bonus money totaled $1.71. If everyone of the estimated 3½ million veterans in the country received a like amount of advertising, he figured the postage would total $5,985,000.

Maybe They Thought It Was Sweepstakes

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, June 16.—The police department isn't quite certain yet what happened, but they are sure of this much:

An automobile containing three men flattened a stop sign at a Cleveland Heights intersection, continued across the intersection and jumped a six-foot terrace into the yard of Henry L. Grund. The car bounced through the bushes in the Grund lawn, across the line to the property of Raymond C. Kaul and then broke through a hedge and dropped 20 feet to East Boulevard. That isn't all.

The automobile, three men still in it, continued across East Boulevard, broke through a three-rail steel fence, dropped over a 35-foot cliff and landed in a clump of trees, right side up. Police estimated the car turned over five times when it went over that last cliff.

William Chovanec, 23, driver of the car, was treated for a cut on his face. After that he was charged with intoxication. One of the men disappeared before police could follow the trail and reach the car and the other was unhurt.

OTHERS SUSTAIN MINOR INJURIES

Calvin Tittler, Sam Jackson Recovering After Mishap

Two Washingtonville youths were injured, one of them fatally, while a third man escaped with minor hurts when their truck skidded off the curve and overturned just east of North Georgetown at 6:30 p. m. Monday.

James Needham, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Needham of Washingtonville, died in Salem City hospital at 11:15 p. m. from a fractured skull and shock.

Condition Good

Samuel Jackson, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jackson of Washingtonville, suffered a deep laceration on his head and forehead, cuts about the nose and upper lip. His condition today was described as "good."

Calvin Tittler, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tittler of Leetonia, who was driving the truck for the Berg Bretzel Co. of Leetonia, was treated at the hospital for minor injuries and then dismissed.

Needham, who was employed at the Mullins Mfg. Corp. plant, was in Salem with Jackson last yesterday. They are believed to have accepted a ride home with Tittler. They were traveling toward Salem and had just left North Georgetown when the mishap occurred, State Patrolman Carroll Ruben said.

Born in Canton, Feb. 23, 1917, Needham resided in Washingtonville most of his life. He was a member of the Trinity Lutheran Sunday school there. He recently attended a CCC camp for a year and attended schools in Washingtonville and Leetonia.

Funeral Thursday

Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Spiveack of Mansfield and Mrs. Lillian Lippiatt of Millville; two brothers, Kenneth, at home, and Glen of Berlin Center, and a stepbrother, Frederick Heffner, at home.

The funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the home in charge of Rev. George D. Keister. Burial will be in Bunker Hill cemetery.

Turnover Is Big At Morrisville's Livestock Sale

LISBON, June 16.—Exceptional heavy demand for livestock and poultry was shown at the Morrisville community sale northeast of here this week, when over 200 head of live stock and 3,000 head of poultry were bid in.

Attendance at the current sale was the largest in nearly two years, it was said, buyers coming from Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

Approximately 150 head of yearlings and cows were sold, the former selling at an average of $20 per head and the latter as high as $40 per head. Veal calves sold firm at nine and one-half cents per pound, 125 head being sold at this market.

Sale of 50 hogs averaged nine and one-half to 10 cents the pound and 75 sheep sold at an average of from four to seven cents the pound according to size and weight.

Heavy hens were in demand, the market averaging 18 to 22 cents per pound, and one lot of extra heavy stock sold at 25 cents the pound. Over 3,000 head of poultry were sold at this sale. Broilers sold at from 16 to 20 cents on an active demand.

Twelve head of horses were sold, the stock going at from $25 to $100 per head according to size, condition, weight and age.

Consistent livestock from the western part of the state was placed on the market at this sale.

E. Palestine Potter Dies At Liverpool

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 16.—Patrick McIluff, 56, of East Palestine, was found dead in bed at a rooming house, West Fifth st., here last night. A heart attack is believed to have caused his death.

Police said he suffered a stroke on the street a week ago. For the last five months he had been employed at the Hall China Co. here. His body was removed to the home of a sister, Mrs. May Wile at East Palestine. He leaves several brothers and sisters.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS

Figures compiled by the federal housing administration justify an optimistic outlook for the construction industry will be hailed with satisfaction by observers of the business scene.

According to a statement given out by Stewart McDonald, federal housing administrator, substantial gains in home building for 1936 are certain. After the first week in May mortgage insurance arrangements approved by the FHA passed the $300,000,000 mark. During the first nine days in June mortgages accepted for insurance totaled $14,285,387—indicating that this month would surpass the increases shown in May. The latest cheering figure is that mortgage insurance agreements are being offered for FHA approval at the rate of $1,500,000 a day for each working day.

Field representatives of FHA are making extensive efforts to acquaint persons with the possibility of financing new home building by means of low cost mortgages. Doubtless such educational campaigns will give further shots in the arm to the lagging construction industry.

As taxpayers read the news of potential revival of an industry which has been slow to respond to recovery encouragement, they will be gratified to reflect that FHA is one federal agency not pouring out huge sums of their money. All the financing of new mortgages is being handled by private financial institutions. FHA merely insures the private concerns against loss.

Probably FHA will lose some taxpayers' money, but the loss will be only a pinprick compared with the huge sashes into the federal treasury made by other less meritorious schemes. Meanwhile, too, the construction industry is sitting up and taking notice.

"PRINCE OF PARADOXES"

News of the death of Gilbert Keith Chesterton, at the age of 62, will shock and grieve almost as many Americans as Englishmen. This man of letters, this man of "exceeding girth," loved life so hugely and battled so joyously for his beliefs, it is hard to believe that the coldness of death could touch him. As he cracked his merry whip at opponents, even those who were lashed had to admit the man was abundantly alive.

Chesterton was so much a personality, so much a good eater and "honest drinker," it is difficult to perform the prosaic task of estimating him as a writer. Yet the records attest, he was unusually prolific in his chosen field—almost too prolific, some critics assert.

Abandoning his original intention to study art—for which he showed considerable talent—"G. K." served the usual apprenticeship. Faced by the languid omniscience, and pessimism of the fin-de-siècle period in which he was growing up but to which his nature was completely alien, he lashed out with the spirit and verbal dexterity that first earned him the name of "Prince of paradoxes." His was the lath on which were turned out sharp phrases that would build up a scintillating argument for the proposition that black was white or the moon was made of cheese.

Critical and polemical essays, book reviews, poetry, detective "thrillers," and even a few plays were among the grist produced by this dynamo of energy. Inevitably some of his work was bad. Inevitably he vitiated some of his critical work by a too keen desire to make his evaluations match his theology. Yet it is not rashness that prompts the prediction that some of his best poetry, verse that leaps with the virility and vivaciousness of the man, will live for a long time. So, too, may endure some of his searching literary criticisms such as his study of Dickens. London will be a more somber in which to live now this unconventional conventionalist has passed on to the unknown which he was so sure he knew.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, June 16—Writers, especially newspapermen, are reputedly the heaviest users of tobacco of all sedentary workers. Leniency toward smoking on duty in most editorial rooms contributes largely to the addiction. Frank Munsey was among the few publishers who forbade it.

The only all-around newspaperman I ever heard about who has never used tobacco is William Allen White. The most inveterate cigaret smoker among the editors was Ray Long. It was an office boy's duty to empty a derby-sized bowl of stubs from his desk twice a day. But Long took only a puff or so from each.

Many newspapermen who turn to magazine writing drop the cigaret for the pipe, and when they do they are scarcely ever without one. Chewing the weed was in high favor with copy readers 20 years ago, but that use of it is now almost abandoned.

I once knew a city editor who invariably lighted a cigaret before answering the almost incessant ring of his telephone. Many of the crack reporters believe it impossible to turn out a bang-up story without indulging what is known as chain smoking. Northcliffe called it The Great Nicotine Nag!

Edward J. O'Brien sets himself up as sort of supreme authority of the American short story and each year compiles a volume called "The Best Short Stories of (whatever year it is)." Naturally he is the target for hoots and many derided. But one thing is noticeable. The stories that have the greatest appeal for him are in the those little-known-of fustiletons that struggle so hopelessly for expression. And are almost invariably without plot.

Broadway hears the famous red-haired Ziegfeld show girl, Jessie Reed, is now acting as hostess in a Chicago night club. Ann Pennington, another charmer of that era, has been at another Windy City haunt. There are no Jessie Reeds or Ann Penningtons in the choral galaxy today. Miss Reed never spoke a line, yet she filled front rows and increased receipts of the florists nightly. Miss Pennington, nimble enough as a dancer, was known however for her dimpled knees. So far as I know the Rialto hasn't an outstanding chorus girl, the type known by name and pointed out wherever she appears. Like Dolores.

Ziegfeld was indeed the one and only glorifier. He knew how to make his ladies of the ensemble talked about as well as himself. His power for publicity did not follow him to the grave. Today the Ziegfeld name overshadows the entire list of Rialto producers. Three years after his passing the film of his life was showing all over the land, a Ziegfeld Follies was playing at the Winter Garden and a Ziegfeld show on the air. There was one week on Broadway when a stroller counted the Ziegfeld name 32 times from the Circle to Herald Square in lights, on billboards and window displays. If life survives the body and there is any consciousness of what is going on across the gulf it's certain the vain-glorious Ziegfeld is compensated for those last despairing years when the Broadway he so bequeathed was trying with shameless indifference to "lay him out like a rug."

Sentimentalists would like to see the scene of Ziegfeld's major triumphs in a similar comeback. That is the venerable New Amsterdam theater—New York's "Old Vic"—which also housed the Frolic Roof. For several seasons now it has been mostly dark and the West 43d street block in which it is situated has become a strip of cheap-john stores, strip burlesque shows and other decadences of a street turned tarantula.

The New Amsterdam lobby from noon until curtain time was once a haven for characters—a sort of open forum for theatrical gossip. Renold Wolf, Blue Dudley, Ward Morehouse, Stephen Rathbun and other roaming chroniclers of that day always picked up their brightest chit-chat there. Agents swapped their ribald stories and every now and then the foyer congealed into frozen silence. A. E. Erlanger was on his way to or from his offices. Even Ziegfeld was obedient to Erlanger.

And there was that little cubbyhole lunch in 41st, the Iron Goose, as I recall, with its Patsy Kelly hoyden type of waitress. I once asked her for a finger bowl after messing with a catfish sandwich. "A saucer of water for Ernestine," she called out.

Any city with numerous alleys fascinates me. Cincinnati, for instance. The first world notable I ever interviewed was Chauncey Depew and I went out smoking a big Corona, dizzier than all get out. Dizzier than when I got smacked at school for cracking wax. Too many pretty boys in the films lately. Give us more Wallace Beerys.

THE STARS SAY

For Wednesday, June 17

A very active and interesting day is forecast from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects of the planets. While there may be very lively business conditions, all pertaining to writings, advertising, publishing and promotions are under particularly auspicious rulership. Push in this direction. There may be a sudden turn or anxiety in connection with an elderly woman.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively year, with some unusual piece of news affecting the interests. Business and all pertaining to writings, publishing, publicity and promotion should thrive, probably causing travel, removal or change. Scientific and experimental things flourish. The loss of an elderly woman may cause sorrow.

A child born on this day may be versatile and capable in out-of-the-ordinary lines, with much talent in literature or science. Its extreme cleverness may call for early supervision and direction.

PROPER BREATHING

BY MEANS of the respiratory system, or "breathing apparatus," as it is more commonly called, it is possible to take from the atmosphere these substances that are essential to the maintenance of life.

I fear that few persons are familiar with the importance of the breathing organs and, in consequence, abuse them. The oxygen we get in breathing purifies the blood and furnishes nutrition to the tissues of the body. When we exhale we rid ourselves of carbon dioxide and other waste products.

The respiratory system is divided into two parts, the "upper respiratory tract" and the "lower respiratory tract." The upper includes the nose and throat; the lower tract is made up of the voice-box, or larynx, the trachea, or wind-pipe and the bronchial tubes which lead to the lungs.

The air you breathe passes through the nose where it is filtered and cleansed by the fine hairs of the nostril. The nose has a moist lining, the tissues being fed by the abundant blood supply. This warms the inhaled air and prevents chilling of the delicate membranes of the lungs.

Losses Advantages
The person who most of the time breathes through his mouth does not benefit as he should. He loses all the advantages of having the air pass through the nose. This is one of the reasons that most "mouth breathers" are subject to colds and coughs.

Children who breathe through the mouth do not make the necessary progress in growth and development. They lack the full supply of oxygen required for health.

You see how important are all the parts of the respiratory system. You cannot afford to neglect it or take chances of its infection. If you are a frequent victim of colds, nasal sinusitis, sore throat, tonsillitis and other disorders of the upper respiratory tract, it is best to consult with your physician. Neglect of these disturbances will lead to a gradual lowering of the resistance of the lower respiratory tract. Then there is trouble.

Proper breathing is essential to good health. Disturbances of the breathing apparatus should never be neglected.

Answers to Health Queries
Miss M. Q.—What can be done to eradicate pimples?

A.—Proper diet and regular habits will clear the complexion and benefit the health in general. For full particulars send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and repeat your question.

B. B. B. Q.—I have been troubled with pains all over my chest and stomach. I have been told this was neuritis. What would you advise? A.—It is most essential to determine the underlying source of infection. For full particulars restate your question and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send addressed stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland in care of this newspaper at its main office in this city.

National Security

In the political campaign which is now about to open we will hear much concerning national security, but thinking people everywhere will agree that such security must be founded on thrift and home ownership. A home-owning community is never a lawless community, and home ownership is impossible without thrift.

"BLIND TO LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

SYNOPSIS

Mary Shannon, young and pretty stenographer, is broken-hearted when she learns that James Todd, Jr., is engaged to Neta Grainger. Mary had known "Jamie" for two years and though he never committed himself, he inferred that some day they would marry. She tries to hide her hurt feelings from her parents and Aunt Willie. One night, Mary works overtime and her handsome employer, Stephen Bennet, takes her to dinner. He has just been appointed manager of the Seattle office of the A. A. Healey Steamship Company and wants Mary to go as his secretary. She does not want to leave her family. At home, Mary writes "Jamie" asking him to meet her when he comes to town so that she can congratulate him. Next day, at the office, Ethelyn Piper tells Mary that Stephen Bennet is "mad" about Mary. Therefore, when Mary bids Stephen farewell, she is exceptionally cool. When days pass with no answer to her letter, Mary knows she is waiting in vain for "Jamie". Aunt Willie, middle-aged and trying to be young, spends all her money in beauty shops and on Mrs. Shannon is worried about her for she seems to have her head over some man she met at a dance. Mr. Samson, Mary's new employer, asks her to go apartment hunting with his wife. Mary finds Mrs. Samson a most attractive young woman and very frank. Mrs. Samson tells Mary she used apartment hunting as an alibi to see how Mary's company, as she was lonely. They go shopping. Returning home, Mary finds an invitation to "Jamie's" wedding. In the privacy of her room, she sobs over her lost love. Aunt Willie comes to Mary with a tale of woe about being made the victim of a cruel prank.

CHAPTER XI

Aunt Willie. What HAPPENED? "Oh, nothing. Nothing except that the girls thought it would be funny to send me fake news, pretending to come from a certain fellow I met at the dance. He was a little backward, and when the hostess introduced all us girls, he danced with me and he didn't dance with any of the others. "And it got Rose sore—see? So when we had a couple of dances together, why, I said, in a casual way such as anyone would, that I would see him afterwards, and Rose said me, and as I say it was her idea of a joke to send me those letters. She's the most to blame! I don't blame the others so much. She's always been jealous of me! Always! "And so I—well, I went to meet him where the note said to, and I waited a while like anybody would and then I—Then I saw the girls were all there, watching—and I've got as much sense of humor as anybody—but I—heh, heh, heh!—I pretended to laugh, but I—Oh, I'm so MAD! Mary, wouldn't you be mad? Oh, I—I have to bawl when I—I get—mad—I— "Between sobs she gasped, 'Don't tell Dora that all. She—she wouldn't understand how a girl needs a little fun—and—' Mary had her arms tight around her now. "Aunt Willie—I know. I know. Don't cry so. It doesn't matter. What if they did laugh? People like that aren't worth crying over. They— "Oh, you don't understand. I thought they were my friends. And now I can see that they—Well, they told everybody—the customers, and Mr. Mooser himself. It's terribly funny, if you can see the joke, I guess, only I— "Aunt Willie—please—please don't— "Aunt Willie broke away, wiping her staring, red eyes. "Go to sleep again, Mary. I'm sorry I bothered you. I just had to tell somebody. I—I guess it was funny, all right—Now I guess I'll go to bed. Good night." Twice Mary waked, heard her walking rapidly back and forth in her room, next to hers. Light from Aunt Willie's window streamed out on the Johnson's lawn next door. She thought of getting up to try to coax her back to bed, but maybe it was better to let her have it out, poor thing! Her eyes closed. In her sleep she seemed to hear the sound of Aunt Willie's feet running, running away from life. Everybody was late to breakfast, and Ma was furious because Pa, who was starting off on the road again, insisted on shaving first. When Mary and Aunt Willie came into the kitchen Pa was leisurely shaving and humming at the sink, and Ma was making hot cakes at the smoky griddle on the stove. Mary certainly had no appetite, and Aunt Willie didn't seem to, but Ma made them eat the hot cakes, with plenty of bacon. Why DID she make such a fuss over breakfast? Nobody wants a big breakfast! Nobody wants anything more than orange juice and toast! But she would fry bacon, and fuss, and if you didn't eat like a farm hand she got mad. Aunt Willie looked awfully bad. Poor Aunt Willie. She had to have her sleep. You can't stay up all night at her age. Mary hadn't had much sleep, either, but she looked all right, thank goodness. No one would suspect that she'd been awake half the night crying. No, indeed! No heart on the sleeve for her. Nobody'll ever be able to say that she was all cut up because Jamie Todd got married. "Now, Willie, don't be stubborn. Ma was begging. "You know it's feed a cold and starve a fever, and if you've got a cold, which you certainly look like, you've got to eat to keep your strength up. Do you think you're well enough to go to work? Don't you think you'd better stay home and let me dose you up?" "I'll go if it kills me," Aunt Willie said.

"Then I saw the girls were all there, watching—" Aunt Willie went on.

Her teeth chattered again. Mary couldn't get Aunt Willie out of her mind, though it was a busy day, and Mrs. Samson dropped in for a few minutes, too. But all day long she could see that breakfast scene—with Aunt Willie drooping over her place at the kitchen table, automatically feeding Tootsie with bits from her plate, heavy eyes staring into space, silent for the only time in her life. Twice she had the almost irresistible impulse to call home, to ask if Aunt Willie had gone off to work, if she seemed all right. Those confounded girls, humiliating her that way! Aunt Willie, who'd cheerfully worked overtime for every one of them, and given them lovely presents—much nicer than they ever gave her at Christmas time—making sport of her just because she was a little old and funny—when they were no spring chickens themselves— She could hardly wait to get into the house that night. "Where's Aunt Willie?" Ma looked up tranquilly, surprised that Mary should rush to the kitchen, ask for Aunt Willie before she even got off her coat and hat. "Why, I don't know. I suppose she's staying a little late. Mary, as long as the isn't here, I wonder if you'd just get off your things and feed Tootsie? She's whining so I can't stand it. SHUT UP, Tootsie! You'll get your dinner in a minute—can't leave the veal cutlets—they burn so easily— But the fat old dog wouldn't eat. She squatted before her plate on the kitchen floor, and whined. "Well! That's the first time that animal ever refused food. Feel her nose, Mary? Is it hot? Not that it will hurt her any to miss a meal." Mary said: "She ought to be home now. You don't suppose she's sick? Too sick to come home?" "Oh, no. One of the girls would have telephoned. More than likely she stopped at the club's for a treatment, or a shampoo or something. She did look bad, though—"

They went to the front door, looked up—the street. Dinner was always on the table at 6:30. Aunt Willie was never late. "I wish she'd hurry. I just hate to have things dry up. I'm glad your father's not here tonight, he gets so impatient with Willie. I do hope he does well on this trip, though he says nobody's buying. I try not to worry, but with the taxes and insurance and all—Listen! Was that the front steps?" It wasn't. They sat on opposite sides of the kitchen table. The clock on the shelf ticked on. No Aunt Willie. "I hate to start without her," Ma said, "but I hate to have everything spoil. I made a southern corn pudding, too."

Herewith is the solution to yesterday's puzzle.

MAN CAN NOW TALK WITH GOD

MOSCOW, IDAHO.—"A new and revolutionary religious teaching based entirely on the misunderstood sayings of the Galilean Carpenter, and designed to show how we may find, understand and use the same identical power which Jesus used in performing His so-called Miracles," is attracting world wide attention to its founder, Dr. Frank B. Robinson, noted teacher, author and lecturer.

"Psychiana" this new psychological religion, believes and teaches that it is today possible for every normal human being, understanding spiritual law as Christ understood it, "to duplicate every work that the Carpenter of Galilee ever did"—it believes and teaches that when He said, "the things that I do shall ye do also," He meant what He said and meant it literally to all mankind, through all the ages.

Dr. Robinson has prepared a 6000 word treatise on "Psychiana," in which he tells about his long search for the truth, how he finally came to the full realization of an Unseen Power or force "so dynamic in itself that all other powers and forces fade into insignificance beside it"—how he learned to commune directly with the Living God, using this mighty, never-failing power to demonstrate health, happiness and financial success, and how any normal being may find and use it as Jesus did. He is now offering this treatise free to every reader of this paper who writes him.

If you want to read this "highly interesting, revolutionary and fascinating story of the discovery of a great Truth," just send your name and address to Dr. Frank B. Robinson, 436 6th Street, Moscow, Idaho. It will be sent free and postpaid without cost or obligation. Write the Doctor today—Copyright, 1935, Dr. Frank B. Robinson.—Advertisement.

Rebekahs of District 28 to Rally Here

Home lodge No. 110, Daughters of Rebekah, is making extensive preparations for two important events in the lodge social calendar. The Salem unit will entertain lodges of District No. 28 here June 19 at the 25th annual session of the Ohio Rebekah assembly. During the assembly the annual inspection of the local lodge will be held.

Several Salem women are district officers and one is a member of the district executive committee. Mrs. O. F. Sanor is president of District 28, Mrs. B. W. Dixon is secretary and Mrs. William Kircher is warden of the district. Mrs. Albert Bonsall is on the executive committee.

Mrs. Olga B. Cornell of Youngstown, state president, will preside and conduct the inspection of Home lodge at the evening session. Mrs. James Goodwin of Salem will make the address of welcome in the morning session, which will be opened by officers of Home lodge. Nomination, election, installation of new district officers is scheduled for the session which will open at 1:30 p. m., in charge of district officials.

The lodges to be represented at the meeting include Alliance, Leetonia, Lisbon, Columbiana, Sebring and East Palestine.

A school of instruction for all the lodges will be a part of the assembly program. Mrs. Anna I. Henderson, Columbus, state secretary, is expected to attend at that time. Degree work will be exemplified during the evening session.

Legion Auxiliary To Hold Party

Arrangements have been completed for the American Legion auxiliary card party Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Roy Shorkey on the Damascus rd. Mrs. Herbert Fischer will be in charge of the bridge and Mrs. T. Vaughn Yates, "500".

The auxiliary will entertain Columbiana county council of the auxiliary here Friday night. All units of the county will be presented and plans are being made for a large attendance from local and visiting auxiliaries.

Anyone who has papers or magazines to donate to the auxiliary, which will collect them on Monday, June 22, to sell, is asked to call Mrs. Harold Wyckoff, 1019. The funds obtained from the sale of the articles will be turned over to the relief project of the auxiliary.

Attend Graduations At Two Schools

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Liebschner and daughter, Selma, Mrs. Charles Bartolon and daughter, Selma Rose and John Hawkins of Canton were in Rochester, N. Y., Monday visiting their son and brother, William R. Liebschner, who graduated from the medical school at the University of Rochester with an M. D. degree. Liebschner, a member of the class of '27, Salem High school, graduated from Mount Union college in 1932. He has been intern at the Monroe county hospital in Rochester during the last year and on July 1 will enter University hospital at Columbus for intern work.

The party returned for the annual commencement exercises at Mount Union where Miss Liebschner graduated today. She has majored in biology and in September will begin a special course in laboratory work.

IN CANTON, South China's big city, parades and massmeetings were organized to increase and express hatred of Japan.
The outpouring recalls Voltaire's description of a glass of English beer, "froth at the top, dregs at the bottom."
There came prosperous residents in holiday clothing, mouthing anti-Japanese slogans and threats, shooting off firecrackers, officials of the city, and provisional ruler, regiments of expert swordsmen, trained to cut off human heads.
Ordinary citizens who will have the pleasure of paying for the war came next to last, and last of all the coolies, "as they walked their backs were bent from pulling heavy wagons as beast of burden."
If war grows serious efforts will be made to straighten those bent backs, to supply "cannon fodder."

CHINA and the rest of the world must remember that as the population of a nation increases, the new human beings must live somewhere.
Last year Japan had her greatest increase in population; more births than deaths by one million twenty-eight thousand; 240 Japanese were born every hour, only 133 died.
Figure it out, and remember that Japan with her enormous population, is, as regards fertile soil, only one-half the size of California.

UNCLE SAM, learning of Japan's expedition against South China, sends the American cruisers Asheville and Tulsa hurrying to Hongkong from Shanghai and Chefoo, respectively.

Our cruisers are sent presumably to protect American interests, and it is to be hoped that they will not do more than that, and do it carefully. It would be discouraging to have somebody in Asia say:

"You sent Europeans ten billions when they started fighting."

Paul Conrad, son of Mrs. Nellie Conrad, received his degree of doctor of medicine at Western Reserve commencement Wednesday. During the last 15 months in addition to his school work, Dr. Conrad has been on night duty as extern in Bedford Municipal hospital. He returns to Cleveland June 30 to begin his internship at Cleveland City hospital. On Tuesday, he was initiated into Alpha Omega Alpha, national honorary medical fraternity.

Stricken Ill

Peggy Rankin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rankin, is ill with pneumonia at her home, East Columbia st.

Home From School

Arthur Prior, a student at Ohio State university is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Prior.

Miss Rosemary Dean, student at Seton Hill college, Greensburg, Pa., is spending her summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dean.

New Sexton

John Zimmerman is the new sexton at Oakdale cemetery. He was in charge of the cemetery several years ago.

The Women's Bible Study class of the Presbyterian church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Clyde R. Shontz on Friday evening.

Succeeds Father

ASHLAND, June 16—Ralph H. Maffett succeeded his father, the late J. W. Maffett, as Ashland county recorder today. The elder Maffett died Saturday.

Today

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
SOUTH CHINA thought she wanted a war with Japan, and will probably have it. Troops from Japanese naval squadron land at Amoy, Fungien province, accompanied by the usual convincing flock of airplanes.
War with Japan is the easiest thing to have, if you really want it.

There came prosperous residents in holiday clothing, mouthing anti-Japanese slogans and threats, shooting off firecrackers, officials of the city, and provisional ruler, regiments of expert swordsmen, trained to cut off human heads.

Ordinary citizens who will have the pleasure of paying for the war came next to last, and last of all the coolies, "as they walked their backs were bent from pulling heavy wagons as beast of burden."

If war grows serious efforts will be made to straighten those bent backs, to supply "cannon fodder."

"You sent Europeans ten billions when they started fighting."

ing, why don't you lend us twenty billions? Asia is bigger."

THE FRENCH premier Blum, first Jewish prime minister in French history, is a man of unusual ability, combining common sense with the radicalism of his Socialist party.

Mr. Birchall writes to the New York Times that there is fear of anti-Semitic outbreaks in France, observers "see a groundswell of anti-Semitic movement in the vicious attacks of the right against the new Jewish premier." French anti-Semitism, according to Mr. Birchall, has survived the Dreyfus case, which should have ended it.

SOME SUGGEST that Premier Blum will be for France what Kerensky was for Russia, a connecting link between the old order and extreme Communism, but there is no need, however, to take so gloomy a view in the case of Premier Blum.

It should be remembered that the first Jewish prime minister, Disraeli, had no pleasant time in the beginning; the Commons laughed and hooted him down when he first rose to speak.

He took his seat, telling the workers that some day they would listen to him, and they did listen. He made Victoria empress of India, brought back "peace with honor" from Berlin, incidentally picking up the Island of Cyprus for England at the same time. The French Jewish premier, Blum, who has brains, might do as well for France as Disraeli did for England.

Americans will understand conditions in France better if they keep in mind the fact that there is always in existence there a well-organized, well-financed party, with a "pretender" ready, trying to bring back monarchy. That increases radicalism.

UNCLE SAM, learning of Japan's expedition against South China, sends the American cruisers Asheville and Tulsa hurrying to Hongkong from Shanghai and Chefoo, respectively.

IMPORTANT HOSIERY EVENT

"Freedom" Starring Ann Harding

Theater Attractions

Those who liked the film "Dracula" will find entertainment in the sequel, "Dracula's Daughter", which will be shown at the State theater tonight and tomorrow on a double feature bill. The cast is composed of Gloria Holden, Marguerite Churchill, Otto Kruger, Hedda Hopper and Irving Pichel.

Like Father, Like Daughter
Miss Holden, a stage recruit, plays the daughter of Dracula, who has inherited the lust for human blood from her father. Kruger has the role of a scientist who tries to cure the vampire of the horrible curse. Miss Churchill is seen as the sweetheart of Kruger whose romance arouses the jealousy of the vampire lady, who also loves the scientist.

"Dracula's Daughter" pursues her victims. Her hypnotic power holds them under her spell until she satisfies her craving. It is said the choice of Gloria Holden to play the daughter was an excellent one. Miss Holden's dark beauty is well suited to the sinister part of the vampire. She makes her first screen appearance in this horror picture, coming to Hollywood from stage and radio work.

The co-feature offers Ann Harding in her latest film, "The Witness Chair" with Walter Abel, Meroni Olsen and Frances Sage.

The Power of Love
The power of love to drive a woman to murder is portrayed in this courtroom picture. Walter Abel's business partner is found murdered and Abel is tried for that murder on circumstantial evidence which piles up against him. The plot unfolds in the courtroom with Miss Harding the chief witness. Her love for the accused man causes her to make a spectacular courtroom confession to save him from the chair.

Miss Sage, a newcomer to the screen, is said to be a good discovery for pictures. In "The Witness Chair" she portrays the harum scarum daughter of Abel.

Ohioan Honored

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. June 16.—William D. Joseph, of Warren, O., was one of 28 cadets in the graduation class of 78 at Valley Forge military academy to receive special awards yesterday. Joseph received a medal for military science efficiency.
